The Bill seeks to amend the Roads (Naming and Numbering) Law 1997 (“the principal Law”) to provide for the three urgent and immediate issues which are -

- (c) to remove the Minister as being responsible for approving numbers for buildings and to transfer such responsibility to the Director of the Lands and Survey Department.

Clause 1 provides the short title of the legislation.

Clause 2 amends section 2 of the principal Law to change the definition of “Minister”.

Clause 3 amends section 3 of the principal Law to provide a more detailed procedure for the naming of roads.

Clause 4 amends section 7 of the principal Law to permit the Director of the Lands and Survey Department to number buildings instead of the Minister.

Clause 5 amends the principal Law to empower the Cabinet to make regulations for the better carrying out of the legislation and for giving effect to the legislation.

Clause 6 provides transitional and validation provisions. Clause 6 inserts a new section 14A to provide that any application made under the principal Law which has not been determined before the commencement of this amending legislation shall be considered and determined in accordance with the principal Law as amended by this amending legislation.

The clause also provides that the assignment under the Roads Law (Revised) and under the principal Law of a name to any street is validated and declared to have been lawfully done.
